

Indian Men are not rapists!

Part 2

@dataBiryani

Senior Data Scientist

<http://databiryani.com>

PyCon2015, 4th October, 2015

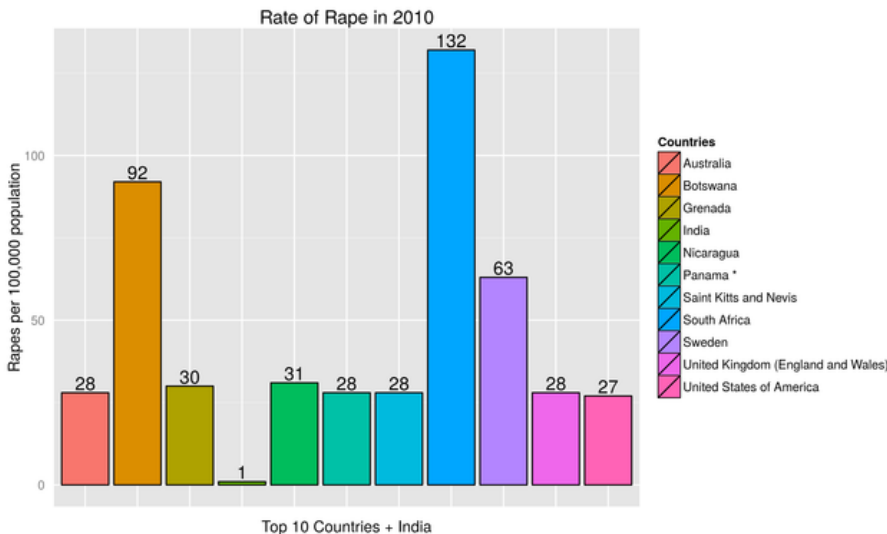

1 Where we stand...

- The Top 10
- The Argument

2 Our Media

- False Reporting: The Steep Rise
- False Reporting: The Steep Fall

Top 10 Countries in 2010

The onus of proof...

- Most cases are not reported

But...

- Look at Botswana and Nicaragua and so on
- Rape is probably better reported in First World

Also, there is the definition of rape.

In any case...

Of the 62 nations for which statistics is available

- only 5 have a smaller rate of rape
- 14 have equal-or-smaller rate of rape
- the mean is 14.29 (India is 1)
- the median is 6.

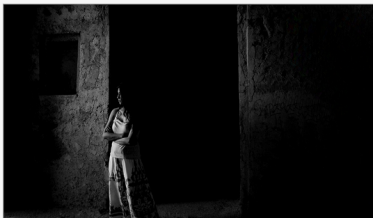

The Bottom

For once, it is good to be at the bottom.

Example

<http://www.socialcops.org/data-wall/crime-india/>

CRIMES AGAINST WOMEN

Stats About CAW

- 69.9% increase in CAW from 2001 to 2012
- Total reported Crimes Against Women is 244270 crimes in 2012
- Total reported rapes in 2012 is 24915 in India (Less than 20% rapes are supposed to be reported)
- So for ever 21 minutes, one rape occurs somewhere in India

Age of Victims

- 87% victims are less than 30 years of age
- 50% victims in India are between 18-30 years

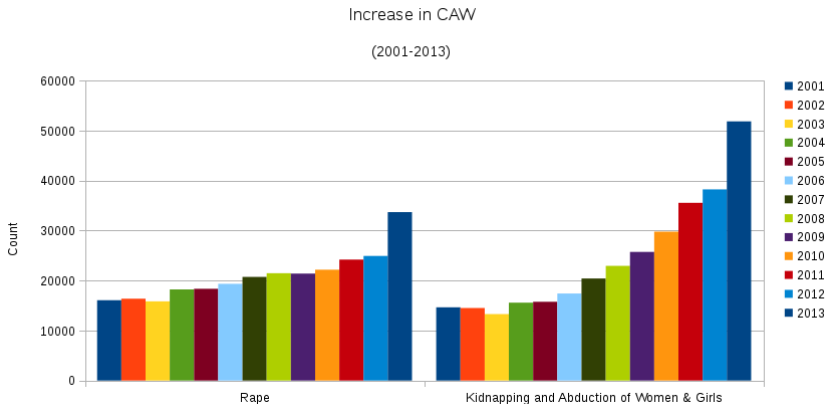

Key Stats

- for every 21 minutes, one rape occurs somewhere in India
- 69.9% increase in CAW from 2001 to 2012

The Reality - 21 minutes

What happened to population growth?

The Reality - Rise in CAW I

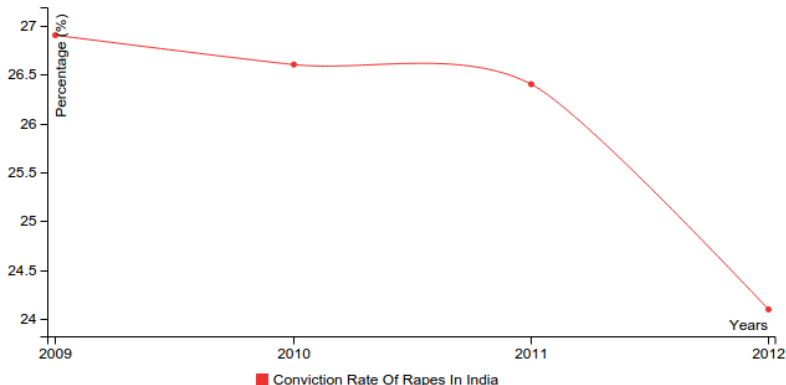

The Reality - Rise in CAW II

- Linear Growth vs Exponential Growth
- Where should we focus?
- 69%
 - 55% in Rape
 - 161% in Kidnapping and Abduction of Women & Girls
 - The Big Contributor: Cruelty by Husband or his relatives (117%, 49,170 to 106,527)

Example

<http://blog.socialcops.com/open-data/is-it-ubers-fault-or-is-the-indian-system-to-share-blame>

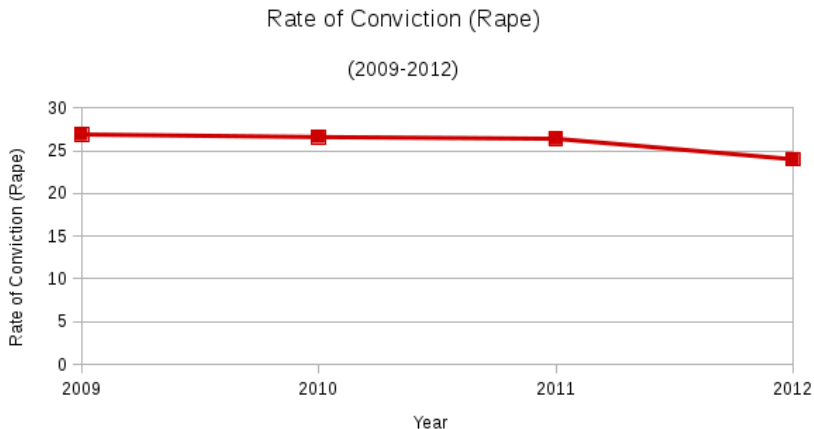

Conviction Rate Of Rapes (India)

Data Source: NCRB

Powered by:

The Reality

Conclusion

- Let's not exaggerate issues with irresponsible charts and figures.
- Let's not drown out pressing issues by focussing too much on a single issue.